On-Demand Development Center

AptusPAR's On-Demand Development Center (ODC), located in Pescara, Italy, is the favored approach for enterprises, SMBs, and startups worldwide who are not interested in sacrificing the quality of their products for the sake of gaining efficiency. We believe our clients deserve to have it both ways when it comes to the knowledge and care that fuels the systematic implementation, maintenance, and enhancement of software products.

ODC acts like an extension of your organization — by leveraging our seasoned and proven resources, we help our clients establish dedicated, secure, and customized offshore engineering and development teams who, as part of becoming a seamless function within your organization, respectfully follow any practices, processes, policies, and culture you may already have in place.

Ways of Working Together

- Build, Operate, & Maintain: We will align the resources, architect the infrastructure, and build the development environment required to deliver the project. We constantly maintain protection of all knowledge and Intellectual Property (IP), as well as proactively build relative regulatory and compliance requirements into the software development lifecycle.
- Knowledge Transfer (if required): We will provide documentation, training, and full knowledge transfer of the operational team(s) over to the client based on pre-defined terms and conditions and/or milestones achieved.

Engagement Advantages with an Offshore Development Center

- On-demand, interdisciplinary team
- 100% transparent operation — a seamless extension
- Intellectual Property (IP) protection
- Scale up or down as needed to meet changing business needs
